

Power of Doubt

There's something within me that whispers,
I won't give up.

I need to feel a world that's better than this.
Yet the power of doubt clings within,
it says, I can't, not me, not now.

I must answer where I want to stand.
Between fulfillment or survival?

So, I wonder ... how will you move the doubt that lives within you?

What will you refuse to give up?
